To address your local housing needs and challenges, West Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (WCWRPC) provides research, planning, and project administration support. Whether that means exploring safe and affordable housing options, coordinating meetings, collecting and analyzing housing data, or preparing grant applications…we are here to help.

WCWRPC works with existing housing partners and related service providers to develop housing strategies that maximize existing resources and address the unique needs of each community. And we will work side-by-side with your community’s engineer to identify strategies that are feasible and cost-effective. Together, we can collaborate to design and implement a successful housing project.

PROJECT TYPES:
- Funding source research
- Grant writing and administration
- Housing need assessments and plans
- HUD reporting assistance
- Data collection and analysis
- Environmental reviews
- Coordination of projects and meetings
- Mapping/GIS analysis and visualization
- Multi-use Tax Increment Financing project planning
- Technical support on subdivision design and land use controls